

What's wrong with this picture?

Answer:

Even though 14 million Americans are out of work in the current downturn, at least 7 million illegal aliens have taken U.S. jobs.¹ And in 2010, the federal government gave 1,042,625 immigrants permission to live here permanently.² Nearly 750,000 of them are in their prime working age, 20 to 65.³ And that's just one year's tally of imported workers.

That's Not Fair.

It's time for the government to reduce immigration so that unemployed Americans won't have to compete with foreign citizens for American jobs.

Join Us. Help Preserve American Jobs for American Workers.

American Immigration Control Foundation
P.O. Box 525 Monterey, Virginia 24465
www.aicfoundation.com

1. U.S. Rep. Lamar Smith, R-TX, citing demographer Jeffrey Passel of the Pew Hispanic Center; 2. Annual Flow Report, Office of Immigration Statistics, Department of Homeland Security, March 2011, page 1; 3. Annual Flow Report, March 2011, page 5.